- Make a fold along one diagonal axis.

- Repeat along the other diagonal axis. Crease well and unfold.

- Fold the right tip in to meet the center.

- Fold the top tip in to meet the center.

- Fold the left tip in to meet the center.

- Fold the top half of the paper over the center crease.

- Flip the paper over.

- Fold the right side to meet the center crease. Make sure to crease well.

- Repeat with the left side.

- Open the right flap and locate the crease you just made in the previous steps as indicated by the 2 arrows below:

- We're going to fold that crease over to the center.

► Fold the tip of the paper down to meet the center crease. This crease should line up with the inside section of the paper. Make the crease, then fold the top down to meet the center as shown in the pictures below.

► Repeat this process on the left side. Open the left flap, then line the additional crease up with the inside section of the paper (as in Step 12).

► Fold the tip down to meet the center (as in Step 13).

---

► Fold the bottom tip up to meet point A.

- Fold the top down to meet point B.

- Flip the paper over.
